I Am Living - Transcending

Synopsis_

Since the sudden tragic accident and death of Faye's very close friend in 2018, he started creating a cathartic series of performances, like a deep cry from a primal place within the soul. After years of performing the I Am Living series, Faye deeply feels that he is transcending to a new position strongly and actively rising beyond his limits in the present moment. He has discovered a new voice within his body like when the sharp crack of the whip left wounds on his arm. He weaves these elements into a dance performance.

KOINONIA

Synopsis_

In this duet, two dancers explore the themes of partnership and support through the metaphor of joints—two bones coming together to form a functional whole. The piece reflects the idea that, like joints, human relationships are strengthened and given purpose when they share in reciprocal support and joint participation.

Choreographer_

Ashlynn Edward & Nathalynn Edward Lim (Shu-May Dance Company)

Performers_

Ashlynn Edward, Ashton Lim

Am I Enough?

Synopsis_

"Am I Enough?" is a personal journey that encompasses the experience of womxn universally in our struggle with understanding ourselves and knowing who we are. Grappling with attaining authenticity whilst fighting to be heard and seen in a world that constantly invalidates us, this piece draws on real-life accounts by womxn who have faced sexism and feelings of inadequacy. Marrying verbatim text and script with choreography, this piece is driven by the powerful stories of womxn everywhere to move audiences and inspire reflection on what it means not just to be a womxn in this world, but what it means to be 'you'.

Choreographer & Performer_

Nurul Sofia
